

My Valentines Tribute to My Fur Babies

To my first fur baby Max, who I got to spend the most amazing 13.5 years with. I miss you and love you more than words could describe, not a day goes by where I don't think of you or wish I could spend one more day with you. I remember begging my parents for a dog since I was 5 years old, and with my persistence, they finally agreed and surprised me with you. As a child, I did not realize how important our relationship would become. You taught me so many wonderful things such as patience, unconditional love, kindness, selflessness and much more, I don't think I could've gotten a better dog. Your unique charm, stubbornness, and sweet soulful eyes will be engraved in my heart forever. You were the best boy ever, and I will be forever thankful to have gotten to experience such a crucial part of my life with you in it. I hope you are sniffing and exploring and eating as many treats as you wish in Rainbow Bridge with all your doggie friends. Rest easy my sweet boy, until we meet again. 💙

To my Phoebe girl, thank you for showing me how to love again. You have been a light in my life since having to put Max to rest, without you, I don't think I would been able to heal. In the 6 months that I have had you, you have challenged me in many ways, you have taught me an EXTREME amount of patience, compromise, and of course unconditional love. You make me laugh all the time with how goofy and sweet you are, you are such a unique dog and I am so happy to have you in my life. You are so willful, and nosey and I love that about you. I love you my sweet baby girl, and I look forward to our relationship grow more and more over the years. 💙
